About this piece

These hand-blown Vaseline glass shades date to around 1910 and follow the Arts and Crafts movement (1880 – 1910) tradition of naturalistic glass forms. Each shade is lily-shaped, tapering to a circular fitter with a gently flared rim and fine vertical ribbing. The translucent Vaseline glass produces a warm yellow tone that glows vividly under light.

Fitter diameter approximately 3.5 cm (1? in). Both in good condition with minor wear consistent with age and use. Ideal for period antique lighting restoration or pendant fittings.
