

Aesthetic Movement Wrought Writen Iron & Copper Fire Bucket

Ref: PV004186

£2,800

|            |                                                                 |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| PERIOD     | Aesthetic Movement                                              |
| YEAR       | 1885                                                            |
| ORIGIN     | United Kingdom                                                  |
| MATERIALS  | Copper, Iron, Wrought                                           |
| DIMENSIONS | H: 27.17 in (69 cm)   W: 20.47 in (52 cm)   D: 15.75 in (40 cm) |
| CONDITION  | Good                                                            |

About this piece

An Aesthetic Movement wrought writen iron and copper fire bucket with sunflowers that form a part of the main iron frame coming down to form the rim which holds the bucket in place, continuing down to the split iron legs united by a writhen stretcher.

With a hand holding a rod to the domed lid and a half round coal bucket with floral decoration to the sides.