About this piece

Collinson & Lock

Attributed to E. W. Godwin. An exceptional quality walnut writing table with five upper drawers, each with swan neck handles, standing on eight finely turned legs, each side united by circular pierced details. Renewed period style leather work area.

Collinson & Lock of London "Art Furnishers," founded with the partnership of F. G. Collinson and G. J. Lock, former employees of Jackson and Graham. Designers employed by the firm included T. E. Collcutt, the architect of their premises; E. W. Godwin, who was paid a retainer to produce exclusive designs for the company from 1872 to 1874, H. W. Batley, and Stephen Webb.
